Highland Pizzeria opened last week at 2347 Oregon Pike, Suite 101, in the Shoppes at Landis Valley.

For 12 years, the pizza restaurant had been in a smaller spot at 707 Olde Hickory Road.

The new location is much bigger, with seating for about 50, owner Doug Pagan said.

The restaurant features pizza, stromboli, subs and salads.

With the move, the menu also has expanded to include some seafood items such as crab cake sandwiches. It offers dine-in and take-out and has about 20 employees.

Manheim store opening

The Wizard's Hat, a store that features Celtic and medieval items, will open Thursday at the Manheim Shopping Center on Doe Run Road.

Co-owners Natasha and Russell Hoffman had operated the store at 32 Copperfield Circle in the Warwick Center, Lititz.

The 1,200-square-foot Lititz store opened in summer of 2010. Natasha Hoffman said the store is moving to the larger, 1,700-square-foot location in Manheim.

The Wizard's Hat offers period clothing and accessories such as hats, swords and jewelry.

There's also a bridal section that features custom-made Celtic jewelry as well as incense, oils, soap and gift items such as T-shirts and waterfalls.

Hours: 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday to Saturday, noon to 6 p.m. Sunday. Phone: 371-2511.

Save-Mor Groceries, 14 S. Railroad Ave., New Holland, has a new owner who is updating the discount grocery store.

The 3,000-square-foot store sells a full line of groceries, including organic produce. It offers some grocery items that may be close to their expiration date or slightly damaged.

Owner Lee Stauffer oversaw some extensive cleaning of the store and also replaced some shelving and added some new items.

To increase Save-Mor's inventory, Stauffer has acquired some of the product line of the Westfield Farm Store, a New Holland grocery store that closed last fall.

Auction house expands

Earlier this month, Morphy Auctions, 2000 N. Reading Road, Denver, finished a $2 million expansion that doubles the size of the existing gallery to 36,000 square feet.

The renovation added 90 extra parking spaces, new office area, a loading dock and a new sale room.

The full-service auction company conducts about 30 auctions a year, specializing in selling off long-held collections, including antiques and art. It has 30 employees and is owned by Dan Morphy.
